ITEM 8.01 OTHER EVENTS.

On April 18, 2016, Apple, Inc. and Dynamic Advances, LLC, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, entered into a settlement agreement under which the Company agreed to dismiss with prejudice the pending litigation in the United States District Court of and for the Northern District of New York "Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Dynamic Advances LLC v. Apple Inc." Under the terms of the settlement Apple, will receive a patent license from Dynamic Advances and a 3-year covenant not to sue from the Company. Other than as contained herein, the terms of the settlement are confidential.

Apple will pay $24.9 million under the settlement agreement. $5 million is payable upon dismissal of the pending litigation and an additional $19.9 million upon the occurrence of any one of the following:

- Consent to the license by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute ("RPI");

- Dismissal of the pending litigation with prejudice;
- A final decision by a court holding that Dynamic Advances has authority to grant the license in the settlement; or
- The expiration or invalidity of the patents in suit.

Dynamic Advances expects to pay an aggregate of approximately 50% of the gross proceeds to RPI, Dynamic Advances' legal counsel and the predecessor exclusive licensee of the patents in suit.

Dynamic Advances believes RPI has unreasonably withheld its consent to the reasonable royalty rate set forth in the settlement agreement between Dynamic Advances and Apple, and that issue may have to be resolved in arbitration, but it will not deter the resolution between Apple and Dynamic Advances. The Company is unable to predict the resolution of any such arbitration.

The Company believes that the settlement agreement has been entered in the ordinary course of business and, accordingly, has not been filed as an exhibit hereto in accordance with Item 6.01(b)(10)(ii) of Regulation S-K under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. Dynamic Advances believes that other voice recognition products infringe the '798 patent.
